MAKES FORCEFUL
PLEA TO UNSAVED

Evangelist Orr Gives Such Clear-Cut Exposition of Gospel Truth as is Never Heard Here.

IT IS NOT WITHOUT EFFECT

Appeals to Judgment Rather Than Emotions in Sermon, "Plan of Salvation Simplified."

Making a forceful, clear-cut plea and appealing rather to the sound sense than the emotional side of human beings, the Rev. W. W. Orr preached his first sermon to the unsaved people of Rushville at the tabernacle last evening. Expressions were heard last night and on the streets today that the sermon was the best, most logical and sensible presentation of the gospel truths that was ever heard in Rushville. Much praise and credit is given the evangelist for his truly remarkable sermon.

The first invitation of the meeting was issued last evening and not without effect. At the first request for those who desired to accept Christ, several in the audience arose and remained standing. Later they were asked to come forward and one of that number did. A man who had not stood was brought to the front by the Rev. John B. Meacham and he was the second convert of the meeting.
Keen interest has been aroused in the meeting and it is believed that many more will come forward and make a public confession. A crowd that almost filled the large tabernacle was present last night.

"It has been the plan of the devil all these years to mystify salvation," said the Rev. Mr. Orr in opening his sermon on the topic, "Plan of Salvation Simplified." "The devil will push you on. He does not care what you do or how you work at it so long as you are working for him. The great part of this sermon is the plan to take things out of the way which the devil has put there."

The first question he asked was
"how may I become a child of God?"
He said that people could not become children of God by having salvation transferred to them. It is a matter of individuality, he said.

"And you can't become a child of God by wishing you were," he continued. "If wishing would produce things, we would all be wealthy and would be riding in automobiles. No, it takes something more than that."

"And it is impossible to become a child of God by baptism. It makes no difference about the method. If it were a matter of water, we could stop this meeting at once. But sin can not be washed out by water. Men are not baptized to make them Christians, but because they are Christians. There is many a fellow in hell tonight who was baptized." He said that he did not wish to be quoted that he was not in favor of some kind of baptism, for he is, but that alone would not save people.

He declared that it is impossible to become a child of God by joining church, but that there is not much chance for anyone to be saved outside of the church. The evangelist asserted that he did not believe God would keep a pure and innocent infant out of heaven simply because it had not been joined to a church.
That does not apply to idiots, he said, and there are many of them.
He said that boys and girls who knew the difference between right and wrong were included. He declared that the hardest man or woman to reach is one in church, who is living a moral life, but who is spiritually dead.

"You can't become a child of God

WAS "FIRING" HIS AUTO
Innocent Gurney Hinchman is Cause of Fire Alarm.

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs.
George Wingerter of West Second street saw a cloud of smoke issuing from a barn near her home. Straightway she sent in an alarm from box 32. The company responded and made hasty preparations to fight the blaze. When they arrived at the barn they found Gurney Hinchman, who was surprised that such a crowd had gathered. Gurney had just been "firing up" his automobile.

RESENTS VISIT OF
SALVATION ARMY

Lucien Gregg Orders Them From the Home of Jude Levi When They Hold Service.

NECESSARY TO CALL OFFICER

When the Salvation Army paid a visit to the home of Jude Levi in Water street yesterday they met with strong opposition and were ordered from the house by Mr. Levi's son-in-law, Lucien Gregg. The Salvation Army workers had called to see Mrs.
Levi, who is an invalid and were holding a short service when Gregg appeared on the scene. He ordered them out and Jude refused to allow them to go. The argument was very heated and Gregg told the followers of William Booth, in pretty strong language just how much or rather how little he thought of them. Levi became excited and sent a call into police headquarters. Policeman Wolters responded but was not needed as the turmoil had quieted down when he arrived. The policeman took Gregg and Charlie Sweet, who happened along about this time and was taking sides with Gregg, to the business district, where they were released.

TO HAVE STREET CARNIVAL

Event to be Last Week in June Under Eagles Auspices.

Plans were completed today for a street carnival to be given the last week in June under the auspices of the local lodge of Eagles. The old base ball grounds south of the city have been rented and the carnival will be held there if the right to use the two blocks south and east of the court house is refused by the city council. The carnival company is owned by Ellis & Deitrick and has the usual array of shows.

MYRON GREEN IS WITNESS

Local Young Man Called in Probe of Dynamite Arrests.

Myron Green, son of Mr. and Mrs.
T. M. Green of this city, who is employed on the reportorial staff of the Indianapolis Star, was one of the witnesses before the Marion county grand jury yesterday. The grand jury is conducting a probe of the incidents concerning the arrest and extradition of John McNamara, charged with complicity in a number of dynamite outrages. Mr. Green wrote many stories at the time of the sensational arrest and was constantly by the side of Detective Burns while he was in Indianapolis.

COEDS TRY LONG
"HIKE" ON FOOT

Misses Mary Williams And Dorothy McLaughlin of Indianapolis
Walk 35 Miles in 7 Hours.

FROM IRVINGTON TO THIS CITY

Butler College Girls Tramp Along Dusty Roads and Refuse Many Chances to Ride.

Ed Weston, the world's champion walker, has nothing on Miss Mary Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
A. N. Williams, living west of the city, and Miss Dorothy McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Mc-Laughlin of Indianapolis. The two girls yesterday walked from Irvington, a distance of thirty-five miles, to the Williams home about four miles west of the city. They returned to Irvington this morning to resume their work in Butler College.

The girls decided that they would walk to Miss Williams' home and the idea had no sooner entered their heads than they planned for the trip.
They left Irvington yesterday morning at five o'clock and arrived at the Williams home shortly before the noon hour. The two young women averaged about five miles an hour which is considered exceptionally good, since they are not accustomed to Marathon events. Miss McLaughlin is a cousin of A. L. Gary and has other relatives here.

The two girls started out to make the trip without provisions or money. It is doubtless the fact that they refused many rides in automobiles and other vehicles which passed them on the road, for not many drivers would pass two young women without offering them an opportunity to ride. The girls stood the test and ate nothing until they arrived at the Williams home where they enjoyed a good country dinner.

The Misses Marie Smith and Marjorie Garber, also Butler College students, tried the same prank yesterday and walked from Irvington to their home in Frankfort, a distance of fifty miles. It required ten hours for them to make the trip.

MEETS DEATH ON TRACK

Cleo Kanouse, Farm Laborer Found Dead Along Railroad.

The body of Cleo Kanouse, a young farm hand, whose home is near St.
Paul, was found within a few feet of the Big Four tracks in Greensburg yesterday. The discovery was made by the engineer of an eastbound train. Kanouse went to Greensburg Wednesday afternoon, and during the evening is said to have been drinking.
His skull was crushed and his body bruised from his hips to his neck.
His pockets contained nothing but a few matches and a pack of cigarette papers.

stable of Horrie Brooks, went a mile morning, the last half in 1:02½.

Great things are expected of the pacer.

of the well-known conductors on the Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction line, brought suit in the Shelby circuit court yesterday asking a divorce from his wife, Myrtle Monroe.

THREE SUFFER
FROM FALLS

Carthage People Are Hurt in Accident While Engaged in Picking Cherries.

HAMMEL HENLEY FALLS 20 FEET

Henry Collins Has Fractured Right Arm as Result of Tumble
From Tree.

Now that the cherry picking season is here many accidents have been expected, but so far none have been reported in Rushville. A number of fatal and serious ones have happened in all parts of the State. Carthage, however, came in for her share of the accidents. No less than three people have been hurt there while picking cherries in the last few days and others barely escaped injury.

Henry Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Will Collins of near Carthage, fell out of a cherry tree and suffered a fracture to his right arm just above the wrist. He lost his balance, which caused him to topple down.

Mrs. Earl Herkless and some small boys were picking cherries at her home in Carthage, when the tree split and the tall ladder crashed to the ground. It so happened that she had just reached the last rung of the ladder and escaped a fall of several feet. One of the boys was near the top of the ladder and jumped in time to avert a bad accident. He was painfully bruised, however. Mrs.
Herkless' small children and Miss Nelle Parish of Carthage, were standing directly under the ladder and moved only a few seconds before the crash came.

Hammel Henley suffered a dis-location and possibly a fracture of his left wrist when the limb of a cherry tree on which he was sitting broke off and caused him to fall a distance of twenty feet. It is considered wonderful that he was not more severely hurt. He was sitting with his back to the trunk of the tree and when the limb split, he was thrown face forward. Since Mr.
Henley is left handed, the injury has caused him much inconvenience.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Charles W. Henley Expired Today at Home in Grant County.

Charles W. Henley, a brother of ternoon at one-thirty o'clock at his

Mr. Henley was 63 years old and had been ill for some time. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Henley, and was born and reared in Ripley township. Besides a widow he is survived by three children. The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at the residence in Grant county.

ins was arrested last night about ten o'clock by City Marshal Harlow and Policeman McAllister.

fined one dollar and costs by the Mayor yesterday for being drunk.
The affidavit was filed by Policeman Wolters. Whallon's fine was stayed.

RENEWED LEASE ON
BLUE RIVER PARK

Indianapolis & Cincinnati Company
Will Continue to Manage Ground Near Morristown.

RATES FOR FOURTH OF JULY

The Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction company renewed its lease yesterday on the Blue River park near Morristown and the place will be opened to patrons of the road. The park is an ideal place to picnic and the company expects to make several improvements on the grounds and buildings. A carnival company will put on a big celebration there July 4th and it is expected to attract a large crowd. The traction company will offer a rate of one cent one half times the regular one way fare on the Fourth of July. This will make the fare $1.20 to Indianapolis and return. On account of President Taft speaking in Indianapolis on that day, many from here will take advantage of the rates. The one and one half fare will apply to both divisions of the I & C. The rate will not apply to any fare under 75c.

THOUGHT BASS WILL BE "PLANTED" HERE

Fish Commissioner Expected to be Here in a Few Days to Supply Rush County Streams.

AT LEWISVILLE YESTERDAY

Although Prosecutor Dennis O'Neil has received no word, it is expected that Jacob Suttong, fish and game commissioner for southern Indiana, will be here in a few days to supply the streams of the county with some young bass. It has been announced in Indianapolis papers that the commissioner will be here. A few weeks ago, Mr. Suttong was here and said then that he would return later. He was in New Castle yesterday, when 1,000 small-mouth black bass were "planted" in Flatrock near there. At Lewisville, which is on the Rush-Henry county line, 1,000 of the same kind of fish were placed in Flatrock.

TRUST COMPAY MOVES.

The Farmers Trust Company was moved from the old location at the corner of Main and Third street to the room four doors south which was recently vacated by the Poe jewelry store. The old furniture will be re-polished and new furnishings will be installed. The interior of the room has been redecorated. The Kennard jewelry store will move into the room vacated by the Trust Company.

GREAT SERIES OF
MEETS PLANNED

Sunday Will be Started With Big Demonstration by Sunday Schools of City.

"SAY-SO" SESSION IN MORNING

Men's and Women's Mass Meeting in Afternoon--Tomorrow is
"Shut-ins" Day.

The next two days will offer many unusual meetings in connection with the revival that is being held in the tabernacle. All classes, ages and kinds of people will be included in the various unique and novel sessions that are planned, especially for Sunday. On the Sabbath day, a women's meeting, a men's meeting, a union Sunday school meeting, a "say-so" meeting and a number of other events will be held. Announcement of all of them was made at the tabernacle last evening.

Saturday will be observed as "shut-in" day. Committees have been appointed to gather and receive flowers to distribute them among the aged and invalid people of the city who are unable to get out and attend the meeting. Mrs. George C. Wyatt is chairman of the committee. A "nickel" collection will be taken at the meeting tonight to buy what more flowers are needed besides those that are donated.

The persons who will distribute the flowers will meet at the tabernacle tomorrow morning at nine o'clock when the work will be started. Rushville people are urged to lend the use of their automobiles to be used in visiting the sick. Persons are also requested to give the names of the "shut-ins" they know to the ministers and members of the committee.

There will be no men's prayer meeting in the business district, nor will there be any cottage prayer meetings Saturday. No meeting will be held at the tabernacle Saturday morning, but the usual services will be held in the evening.

If all of the plans for Sunday are carried out, that promises to be a great day for Rushville. The first thing on the program will be a monster Sunday school demonstration in which all of the Sunday schools of the city will participate. The school children will meet at their various Sunday schools promptly at nine o'clock Sunday morning. They will march from their respective churches to the tabernacle. There the procession will be formed and will move to the Main Street Christian church.
The combined Sunday school congregation will be addressed by the Rev.
W. W. Orr. They will then disband for union church service at the tabernacle at eleven o'clock.

Last night the Rev. Mr. Orr announced that the "say-so" meeting would be held as planned Sunday morning. "Breaking the Alabaster Box" will be the topic of the sermon.
"I want you all to bring your alabastar boxes Sunday morning," said Evangelist Orr last night, "and break them over each other's head. We are going to have a great box breaking."
He said that it was not a personal experience meeting, but had proved to be far more successful than that kind of a gathering.

Sunday afternoon both men's and women's mass meeting will be held.
The women will be addressed at the tabernacle at three o'clock by Evangelist Orr on the subject, "God's Idea of Women." "It will not be a Ladies Home Journal woman," he declared last night, "that I will picture to you, but a woman of God. I want all of the women in the city and county who possibly can to come." He urged that conveyances be provided for

Hanna's Green Seal

"THE MADE-TO-WEAR PAINT"

Has stood the test of time and has been improved in quality with the passing years. Many brands of paint are offered for sale and quite often careful scrutiny is not given the subject with reference to the quality of the paint to be used.

EXPERIENCE IS A GOOD TEACHER. TEST THE QUALITY.

It is a good idea to learn the composition of the paint you intend to use. There is a difference.

The printed formula appears on every package of Hanna's Green Seal Paint.

This is an evidence of good faith and attests the confidence the makers have in their product.

GOING TO FIGHT "BLIND TIGERS"

State Medical and Pharmacy Boards to Co-Operate.

PROPOSE EFFECTIVE WARFARE

Doctors and Druggists Combine to Put Down the Practices of Certain of Their Number, Believing That by Close and Effective Co-Operation They Will Be Able to Solve the Vexing Liquor Question in Indiana.

Indianapolis, June 16.—At a conference of the members of the two boards, co-operation between the state board of medical examination and registration and the state board of pharmacy in the movement started by the latter some time ago, with the assistance of the governor, to stamp out "blind tigers" in drug stores, was agreed on.

The pharmacy board has decided to hold hearings in a number of cities whence they have received reports of violations of the state liquor laws by licensed druggists. The medical board has for some time been revoking licenses of physicians who write prescriptions for liquor for the sole purpose of enabling persons to obtain it for a beverage. The boards believed that by close co-operation they would be able to solve the liquor question satisfactorily.

Following the conference, the medical board considered informally a number of cases involving revocation of licenses, evidence concerning which has already been heard. Formal action on a number of the cases will be taken when the board meets next Tuesday.

BROKE UP PARTY

Influenced by Fortune Teller, Horseman Attempts to Shoot Wife.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., June 16.—"Your pretty young wife does not love you and will soon leave you, but you will be happy, for you are to meet a blue-eyed blonde who will love you and marry you."

The gypsy fortune teller with a pack of cards spread out in the gloomy tent spoke with authority, and Thomas May, horseman, went away believing, and half crazed with grief. Reaching his home, he took a revolver and hurried to a neighbor's home, where his wife was a guest at a party.

May took deliberate aim and fired. The cartridge failed to explode. He was overpowered, and between sobs told the story of the wrinkled, black-eyed seer. The party was broken up, and the fortune teller, to escape arrest, drove across the state line into Ohio.

Fireworks Accelerates Blaze.

Perru, Ind., June 16.—Fire swept the department store of McCaffery & Co., causing a loss estimated at $40,000. The fire started in the basement, where firearms and powder were stored. Frequent explosions drove the firemen back and the flames quickly swept the grocery department, on the first floor, and the furniture department, on the second. The third floor was also badly damaged.

Boys Will Be Boys.

Evansville, Ind., June 16.—Imitating Indians making an attack on a fort, Fred Heneman, eight years old, led a party of boys armed with airguns in an attack on his father's home. The boys had airguns and shot matches through the window. The matches set fire to the lace curtains and the home was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

Appreciative Burglars.

Muncie, Ind., June 16.—"It was kind of you to leave your money at home," read a note left by burglars who ransacked the home of John Taylor, a farmer. The family was away from home when the robbers entered the place in daylight, stole $10 and a number of valuables and then left the ironical note.

ISSUE CALL FOR APOSTLE SMITH

Boss Mormon Must Appear Before Senate Committee.

TO BE A RELUCTANT WITNESS

Very Much Against His Will, the Chief Apostle of the Mormon Church Has Been Subpoenaed to Tell What He Knows About What, if Any, Connection His Sugar Company Has With the Sugar Trust.

Washington, June 16.—Chief Apostle Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon church, will have to appear before the Hardwick committee of the house, which is investigating the sugar refining industry in this country. Smith is supposed to have knowledge of some of the operations of the sugar trust. He was one of the organizers of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company, which the American Sugar company has a large interest in. Smith is not eager to appear before the house committee, Senator Smoot of Utah, who is also a Mormon apostle, wrote to Chairman Hardwick, asking that Mr. Smith be excused from appearing. Senator Smoot said that Thomas R. Cutter of Salt Lake City has full knowledge of the affairs of the Utah concern and could answer the questions as well as Apostle Smith; but Chairman Hardwick objected to excusing Mr. Smith, and the committee promptly voted on the motion of Representative Baker of California, that the apostle be obtained to appear. Subpoenas have been issued for Alfred Harrison and Charles K. Harrison of the Franklin Sugar Refining company of Philadelphia, Horace Havemyer of New York, and John G. and Adolph Spreckels of San Francisco.

C. H. Helke, former secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, and L. M. Palmer, a former director, who for many years was a close business associate of H. O. Havemyer, were the principal witnesses examined yesterday. Their testimony afforded further evidence of the absolute grip that Havemyer had on the sugar trust, although he owned only a few hundred shares of stock in his own name. There were many indications that Henry O. Havemyer had personally made enormous profits out of stock transactions involved in the organization of the sugar trust.

The committee showed a good deal of interest in a $10,000,000 issue of stock of the National Sugar company. More than $7,000,000 of this issue is now in the possession of the Havemyer family, and the committee intends to find out just exactly how Havemyer obtained this enormous block of stock and what if anything went into the treasury of the National Sugar Refining company in return for it.

NOW A FUGITIVE

Atlanta Banker Accused of Huge System of Forgeries.

Atlanta, Ga., June 16.—Leaving behind him a mass of real estate mortgages and notes which it is alleged he forged and on which he secured loans which are estimated at from $150,000 to $300,000, J. Wylie Smith, for fifteen years prominent in Atlanta business circles, has disappeared.

Smith left his place of business a few minutes before officers entered with warrants for his arrest. It is believed that he is trying to make his way out of the United States and that he carried with him nearly $100,000 in cash. Smith's operations have extended over a term of years and his victims number several hundred, many of them women. Smith was secretary and treasurer of the Commercial Loan and Trust company.

Smith plan, it is said, was to see men and women who had a few hundred or a thousand dollars and represent that he could place the money so as to return high interest. He offered mortgages on Atlanta real estate and notes signed by well-known Atlantans. In nearly every case Smith got the money in exchange for mortgages and notes which it is now declared he had forged.

A Million-Dollar Blaze.

St. Louis, June 16.—Fire supposed to have started from the spark of a locomotive last night completely wiped out eight acres of lumber, warehouses and factories, the loss being estimated at $1,000,000.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Rushville People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys;

That serious kidney troubles follow;

That dropsy, bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Rushville citizen.

George Priest, 223 W. Third street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I was bothered my attacks of kidney trouble for several years and as time passed my condition became worse. There was a dull pain directly over my kidneys and I had spells of dizziness and weakness. My sight often became blurred and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever taken and in a short time had relieved me. On several occasions during the past three years, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always given entire satisfaction."

Lesson XII.—Second Quarter,
For June 18, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings xvii, 1-14—Memory Verse, 14—Golden Text, Prov. xxix, 1—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

A brief summary of the story of the ten tribes and their sin is found in verse 21 of our lesson chapter in these words, "He rent Israel from the house of David, and they made Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, king, and Jeroboam drove Israel from following the Lord and made them sin a great sin." Our whole lesson today is a summary of the sin of the ten tribes. From their first king, Jeroboam, to their last, Hoshea, they had, including these two, nineteen rulers covering a period of 260 years, part of which was an interregnum and part a time of anarchy. There was not one good ruler among them all, nor any real turning to the Lord, though He sent them from time to time as His messengers to plead with them, the unnamed man of God from Judah and the prophets Ahijah, Eljah, Micaiah, Elisha, Jonah, Hosea, Amos and Oded. The record of their persistent rebellion and sin is given briefly in verses 14 to 18 of our lesson chapter, and what a record it is! They would not hear, did not believe in the Lord their God, rejected His statutes, left all His commandments, followed vanity and became vain, sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the Lord. The record concerning Judah over a hundred years later reads thus: "They mocked the messengers of God and despised His words and misused His prophets until the wrath of the Lord arose against His people till there was no remedy" (II Chron. xxxvi, 16).

Last days have always been times of great rebellion against God, as were the days of Noah before the flood (Gen. vi, 5, 11, 12), and, according to the testimony of our Lord Jesus, such will be the case again at the end of this age just before He shall come in His glory to set up His kingdom of righteousness and peace on this earth (Matt. xxiv, 37-39; Luke xvii, 26-30). The present unbelief in high places, in pulpits and in many theological seminaries is a sure indication that we are in the last days of this evil age, which are described in II Tim. iii, 1-5; iv, 3, 4; II Pet. iii, 3-7. As truly as the flood came in the days of Noah, the captivity of Israel and Judah in their day, the destruction of Jerusalem and the scattering of Israel among all nations, so surely shall the judgments come that are to close this age and introduce a better one of peace and righteousness. The warning as to what would come upon them if they turned away from the Lord and served other gods is written very plainly in Deut. iv, 25-27, and elsewhere, and, though the purpose of God may be delayed, whether for mercy or judgment, it cannot be frustrated (Isa. xiv, 24). God gives many a warning before He finally lets the stroke fall. In the days of the king preceding Hoshea a king of Assyria carried away many captives (chapter xv, 20), but the warning was not heeded.

This was probably the Sargon of Isa. xx, 1. On what is known as Sargon's cylinder, exhumed from Nineveh, are found these words, "I besieged the city of Samaria and took it. I carried off 27,280 of the citizens. I chose fifty chariots for myself from the whole number taken. All the other property of the people of the town I left for my servants to take. In the place of those taken into captivity I sent thither inhabitants of lands conquered by me and imposed the tribute on them which I require from Assyrians." This reads very much like verse 24 of our lesson chapter, and the following verses tell how this mixed multitude under the teaching of one of the priests of Israel learned to fear the Lord and serve their own gods after the manner of the nations (verse 33). "They feared the Lord and served their graven images" (verse 41), which means that they did not in any true sense fear the Lord (verse 34). They are described in Isa. xxix, 13 as those who honor God only with mouth and lips, but have removed the heart far from Him, and their fear toward Him is taught by the precept of men. See also Ezek. xxxiii, 31, and the words of the Lord Jesus in Matt. xv, 7-9. The last days of this present age are described in II Tim. iii.

Israel had been brought out of Egypt and placed in the land given to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob that they might be a peculiar people unto God, set apart for Himself, unlike other nations, having God Himself as their king, judge and lawgiver (Ex. xix, 4-6; Isa. xxxiii, 22). But first secretly and then openly they turned from God to idols and did as the heathen whom the Lord carried away before them (verses 9-12). Though He sent many messengers who entreated them to turn from their evil ways and return to the Lord, they would not hear, but hardened their necks like to the neck of their fathers, that did not believe in the Lord their God (verses 13, 14).

It is written in Tit. ii, 14 concerning present day believers that "Our Saviour Jesus Christ gave Himself for us that He might redeem us from all iniquity and purify unto Himself a people for His own possession" (revised version). When we consider the conformity to this present age of the great mass of church members instead of their separation unto God we can but wonder at His mercy and long suffering, but the day of the Lord will come.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week
Beginning June 18, 1911.

Topic.—Grace for common duties.—Eph. iv, 25, 26; v, 1, 2. Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

Christianity emphasizes the importance of the performance of what we may call the common duties of life. The great doctrines are set forth, and in connection with them the daily duties that devolve upon man, both in his relation to God and to his fellow man. In no other writings in the New Testament are these facts more abundantly shown than in those of the Apostle Paul. Paul ever emphasized the doctrines of his religion, and yet no one more frequently or more forcibly applied these same doctrines to the practical duties of life. In his ministry he dealt with those who had been raised in ignorance and in darkness and whose lives had long been associated with individual and social vices, and he not only faithfully performed his duty in setting forth "the truth as it is in Jesus," but he was also faithful in exhorting his converts "to put off the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts," and "to put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and holiness."

The common duties of life are not to be ignored. As Christians we are not only to believe, but also to do. Our faith must be proved by our works, for "faith without works is dead." Nor is it enough that we should be willing to make great sacrifices in the name of our religion and to faithfully perform the duties of worship that devolve upon us, but we must also practice the Christian virtues and shun the vices that so naturally cling to us even after we have been regenerated by the spirit of God. Pure and undefiled religion does not end with the visiting of the fatherless and widows in their affliction, but it includes the keeping of ourselves unspotted from the world. The former may be the easier, but the latter is not to be ignored for that reason.

It may be easier and more natural to lie and to deceive than to "put away lying and to speak every man truth with his neighbor" or to be angry and sin than to "be angry and sin not," and yet the virtues of truth and peace are not to be despised for that reason and the vices of falsehood and sinful wrath exalted. If of those who had been raised in heathen lands God demanded virtue rather than vice, much more does He expect us to practice Christian virtues and to eschew all that is evil. We are also to "walk in love," to let our ordinary, everyday life be spent in an atmosphere of love, taking Christ as our example.

Grace is needed for the common duties of life. Without divine grace we can do nothing. All our attainments will be in proportion to the amount of grace that we receive. These facts need especially to be emphasized in relation to the daily duties of life.

Local Churches Sunday School Lesson Christian Endeavor

When some great hardship is faced or some particularly strong temptation presents itself to us we quickly go to God for help, but in the daily routine of life we are less apt to depend upon God, and therein lies our danger. But let us ever remember that we are always in need of divine help and strength. Christ teaches us to pray, "Give us this day our daily bread," and if we are to pray daily for the daily supply of our temporal wants, much more are we to do so for our spiritual needs. Every day, every hour, we need divine grace that we may "cease to do evil and learn to do well." Let us, moreover, be encouraged by the fact that daily grace for daily needs is assured to us. "As thy days thy strength shall be" is the promise of God. "Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help us in time of need."

Hymn For the Silver Anniversary Year

[Tune, "America."] God, Thou our strength and guide Through all the years, To Thee we sing, An anthem glad we raise Of love and joy and praise For life and countless days Of victory.

For Christ and for the church In this her silver year Ohio's cry, Thy holy will be done Till the wide world is won. Thy final kingdom come, Father most high.

Pre-eminence in all We give, O God, to Thee! To Thee we bring Praises and loud acclaim To Thy all conquering name—An earth encircling flame, Saviour and King.

This, then, our faith and prayer—That we Thy passion share For near and far, Touch safe the warrior's dower Of courage and empower For each succeeding hour Of holy war.

GREAT SERIES OF MEETS PLANNED

women who were unable to walk to the meeting.

The men's mass meeting will be addressed by the Rev. Cyrus Yocum of the Main Street Christian church at the First Presbyterian church at three o'clock Sunday afternoon. During the announcement last night the Rev. John B. Meacham asked "How about the men who have to stay at home and take care of the children?" You men must stay at home if your wives can not get away otherwise," replied the evangelist.

The usual meeting will be held at the tabernacle Sunday evening. Tonight the Rev. Mr. Orr will preach on the topic, "The Pleasures of Sin." He declared that he would discuss it in a practical way so that everyone would understand it. The study of the mind of Christ was concluded at the meeting at ten o'clock this morning. A good morning crowd was in attendance.

A men's prayer meeting was held in the directors' room in the Rushville National bank building this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. A good crowd was in attendance. It was led by the Rev. Cyrus Yocum. The men's prayer services in the business section, which were inaugurated this week, have been meeting with unanticipated success.

Cottage prayer meetings were held at the following homes this afternoon: Mrs. John Carpenter, 518 North Jackson street; Mrs. W. J. Waité, 528 North Morgan street; Mrs. Hill Vance, 424 North Harrison street; Mrs. Dode Newman in South Pearl street; Mrs. George Thomas, 324 North Perkins street, and Mrs. Howard Carmichael, 916 North Main street.

MAKES FORCEFUL PLEA TO UNSAVED

by being loyal to your church," the evangelist said. "I admire that but I despise sectarianism. Don't mistake loyalty to your church for conversion." The Rev. Mr. Orr said that he was once pastor of a church and he always kept trace of every new family which moved into the city. One day he visited the home of a new arrival and put the usual questions to the housewife. When he asked her to what church she belonged, she replied: "Well, I'm a Baptist, but I am not one of them straight-back, narrow kind. I believe in all of the churches, and like all of them."

"That woman reminded me of the town cow, which eats off of everyone's lawn," said Evangelist Orr. "She liked all of the churches. Do you suppose I would want my wife to say that I was her husband, but that she didn't care much about me and that she loved all of the rest of the husbands in the world. Yes, I admire church loyalty."

The evangelist declared that it is impossible to become a child of God by adoption of a good creed. He said it was an old truth that a man never lives higher than his creed.

"And you can't be saved by obedience to law," he continued. "You have men and women in your town who are good, clean, pure and moral people and they are depending on that to get them into heaven. They are no nearer salvation than the blackest hearted sinner that ever lived. Your morality will never get you to heaven."

Evangelist Orr asserted that it is impossible to become a child of God by confession of sins. He said that confession was only a part of salvation. "At the Cross, at the Cross, where I FIRST saw the light," he sang. "It is necessary to FIRST see the light before true salvation comes."

The Rev. Mr. Orr said that it is impossible to be saved by quitting some sins or all of them. He said the saved would not want to sin. He declared that the truly converted never cared for the sins and pleasures which they enjoyed before they "first saw the light."

"And you can't become a child of God by believing the Bible," declared Evangelist Orr. "You may believe it from lid to lid and still be lost. The Bible was never given to save men. That is not its purpose. That book is God's prescription for sin and it must be taken and used as such. Let us suppose that a physician gave a man a prescription. The man takes the paper and a glass of water. Of course, it does him no good. The physician returns and finds that his patient is not improved. No wonder. So it is with the Bible. You must have faith in the doctor and the prescription. So you must have faith in God and the Bible before the practical application of the prescription will be helpful."

"But what will save you," asked the evangelist? "As many as receive Him to them He gives the right to become children of God." The Rev. Mr. Orr gave a practical illustration. He supposed that the life of a great man was portrayed in a book. He said that a woman read the book and fell in love with the man—she believed in him. She wanted to marry him, but she would not become his wife until she met him and the ceremony was performed, Evangelist Orr said.

"It is not a question of believing," he declared, "but a question of receiving. You may read the Bible and believe in it, but you must meet the Savior face to face. Of course faith is necessary but that alone will not bring about conversion. The taking of Christ is not a matter of feeling but comes after a clear decision."

Evangelist Orr used another practical illustration. He said there was a man with a million dollars and a woman without a cent. The man wished to become the husband of the woman. They were brought before the preacher and the ceremony started. But the evangelist pointed out that the woman would never be the man's wife and she would never be worth a million dollars until she said, "I do." "So it is with conversion," he declared. "You will never be saved until you have received Christ."

"How many of you people will take Christ tonight," he exhorted? "That is the burning question. 'Take me as I am.' He doesn't ask me to clean up. He does the cleaning up. Church members and all, have you really accepted Christ or have you just joined church and adopted a creed?"

Following the first earnest plea, Evangelist Orr asked all that were willing to accept Christ to stand. A number did and later two came forward. Each minister was asked to pray for one minute. It was the closing thought of the evangelist that he was appealing to the thought, brain and heart and not the feelings or emotions.

Commissioners Consider That Plan For All Roads in Future.

The commissioners adjourned late yesterday afternoon without taking any action on the Edgar Morris and M. A. Riley roads in Noble township, which they were considering. The action was postponed until June 22. It was stated at the meeting yesterday that an election might be called before the road was ordered. The commissioners also considered the election plan for all roads. It is said that they may decide to call an election before ordering any roads in the future.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. Bert Simpson entertained today at her home in North Main street in honor of Mrs. Herman Tompkins of Roswell, New Mexico.

Invitations have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cass Wink of Knightstown for the marriage of their daughter, Minnie Elizabeth, to Harry Irwin Dodson of Buffalo, N. Y., formerly of Indianapolis. The wedding will take place June 27.

Miss Alma Green returned from Indianapolis last evening, where she has been attending the annual State convention of the Psi Iota Xi sorority as a delegate from the local chapter. The convention was opened on Wednesday afternoon. Several social functions were held including a matinee party Wednesday and a dance at the country club Wednesday evening. The business sessions were held yesterday. No other member of the local chapter attended.

AMUSEMENTS

The Portola will have a complete change of program tonight.

The Vaudet will have the usual two reels of pictures tonight. "Herodias" is a Bible story in which scenes from Herod's court are enacted. The beheading of John the Baptist and the famous dance of Salome before King Herod is a part of the picture. It is said to be very realistic. "As Your Hair Grows Whiter" is a Powers drama of great worth. Leon Maxey will sing an illustrated song.

On account of the weather the Star Grand will show in the theater tonight and will present three pictures. The first is a Thanhouser drama, a story of double substitution entitled "Velvet and Rags." The second is an Imp drama entitled "A Faithless Man." The third picture is also an Imp entitled "A Good Cigar." It's an irresistible funny comedy. Cafe frequenters resent fancied insult and set about it to humiliate an active young tourist. The "loaded" cigar-plotters are finally hoisted by their own petard after a series of very ludicrous disappointments of which their would-be victim is ignorant. Note—There will be matinees given in the theater tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

HORRIBLY BURNED
BY ELECTRIC WIRE

Charles Richards, Related Here, is Perhaps Fatally Injured at Greensburg.

TAKES HOLD OF A LIVE WIRE

Charles Richards of Greensburg, related to Mrs. William Higgs and Mrs. William Short of this city, was horribly burned there yesterday when he took hold of a wire which had fallen across the trolley wire of the I. & C. traction line. Spectators finally got the wire out of his grasp, but all his clothing was burned from his body, and his hands were so badly burned that the flesh dropped from the bones. Attending physicians say that he has but little chance to recover. Richards was assisting in taking down the wires of the old Greensburg Power Company. The traction wires carry 3,300 volts of current.

KEITH —OF THE— BORDER

A TALE OF THE PLAINS

By RANDALL PARRISH

Author of "MY LADY OF THE SOUTH,"
"WHEN WILDERNESS WAS KING," etc.

Illustrations by DEARBORN MELVILL.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The Stage Door of the Trocadero. Hope discovered very little difficulty in duplicating the outer garments Keith reported Miss MacLaire as wearing. The colors, indeed, were not exactly the same, yet this difference was not sufficient to be noticeable at night by the eyes of a man who had no reason to suspect deceit. The girl was in a flutter of nervous excitement as she hastened about the room, donning her few requirements of masquerade, yet Keith noted with appreciation that she became perceptibly cooler as the moment of departure approached. With cheeks aflame and eyes sparkling, yet speaking with a voice revealing no falter, she pressed his arm and declared herself prepared for the ordeal. The face under the shadow of the mantilla was so arch and piquant, Keith could not disguise his admiration.

"Am I Christie MacLaire?" she asked laughingly.

"Sufficiently so to fool our friend," he returned, "but I am ready to swear that lady never looked so charming."

"A compliment, and spoken as though you really meant it."

"Have I not been honest enough with you in the past to be credited with honesty now?" he protested, a little hurt by the bantering tone.

"Of course you have; I merely talk lightly to keep my courage up. You can have no idea how afraid I am."

"Then you are truly an actress, for you appear the picture of enjoyment. But we must go, or Hawley will be there before us, and thus spoil all our plans."

They passed out through the office together, seeing no one familiar to either, Hope keeping her face partially concealed. The east side of the street was less frequented than the other, having fewer saloons along its way, and they chose its darkness. As they advanced, the long habit of frontier life caused Keith to glance behind before they had progressed a block, and he was thus made aware that they were being followed. Conversing lightly, and without a word to alarm the girl, he managed to observe every movement of the dimly outlined figure which advanced with them, timing every motion to theirs. Long before they crossed the street to the Trocadero he was convinced there was no mistake—the fellow, whoever he might be, was trailing them. Keith smiled grimly to himself, resolving that as soon as he had left the lady he would teach the spy a lesson not soon to be forgotten.

They barely entered the outer circle of the Trocadero lights, noting a group of men thronging about the doors, and hearing the sound of the band within, and then turned swiftly down the narrow dark alleyway leading toward the stage entrance. Keith, having been there before, advanced confidently, but Hope, her heart beating wildly, clung to his arm, scarcely venturing a word in reply to his whispered assurances. Fortunately they encountered no one, and Keith, feeling cautiously in the dark, easily succeeded in locating the opening to the vestibule. Listening intently he became convinced that no one occupied the little shed. He had intended to remain with the girl until the time came for her to emerge, but the remembrance of that figure dogging them all the way from the hotel now caused a change of plan. He held her hand closely clasped in his.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back
the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

"You," he whispered, "and your own wit will have to carry you through. I know you will play your part all right, and it will be mine to wait for Christie, and give her some explanation of why Hawley failed to meet her as he promised. It will never do for her to suspect, until you have time to learn all possible. You are not afraid?"

"Yes, I am," clinging to him, "but—but I am going through it just the same."

"The truest kind of courage, my girl. Now slip inside, but hold the door ajar. Hawley will certainly be here within ten minutes, and you must join him at once, or else the other might appear. You can judge as to its being him even in this darkness. Good-bye."

The longing to clasp her in his arms, to speak the language of his heart, was almost overwhelming, yet the memory of that figure slinking along behind them, and the brief time

"Yes, You Can Get Up. I Reckon You're Beginning to See Clearer, Ain't You?"

before Hawley's probable appearance, for he would leave the theater at the conclusion of Miss MacLaire's act, restrained all demonstration. This was a moment for action, not for words of love; no delay should hazard the success of their undertaking. He heard the slight creak of the door as the girl slipped within the concealment of the vestibule, and then he glided away through the darkness with the stealthy silence of an Indian. There was no one in the alley-way, which was narrow and easily explored, but the glow from the front windows plainly revealed the shadow of a man near the entrance, and Keith slipped up toward him, hugging the side of the building for concealment, prepared to resort to harsh measures. As he reached out, gripping the astonished loiterer by the collar, they stared at one another in surprise, and the gripping hand as instantly released its hold.

"You, Fairbairn! What the devil does this mean? What are you spying on us for?"

Clearly taken aback, yet not greatly disturbed, his eyes showing pugnacious and his jaw set, the Doctor rubbed his throat where Keith's knuckles had left a red welt.

"Darn, you, I think I'm the one to ask for an explanation," he growled. "She said she was not going with you, and now you are around here together at this hour. I had a right to know whether I was being played with like that."

"But, man, that was not Miss MacLaire I was with; it was Hope Waite. Come back here under the tent flap while I explain."

Fearful of the coming of Hawley he fairly dragged the portly figure of the bewildered Doctor with him, striving, by quickly spoken words, to make him comprehend the situation. Knowing previously something of the issues involved, it was not difficult to make Fairbairn grasp the meaning of this present movement, yet his sympathies were at once enlisted upon the side of Miss Christie. He'd be damned if he would have any part in such a scheme—if she had a right to the money he'd help her get it—it was a cowardly trick, and he'd fight it necessary, to keep her from becoming a victim. His voice rose, his arms brandishing violently, his sentences snapping like rifle shots. Keith, angered, and fearful of a discovery which would leave Hope exposed, realized the futility of discussion and turned to physical force. Grasping the gesticulating man with both hands, he flung him backward and dragged him into the empty tent, kneeling on him as he throttled him to the earth.

"Now, Doctor, you listen to me," he said sternly. "I'm through arguing. I hate to treat you like this, for you are my friend, but I'll not stand for interference here. Do you get that, you old fool? Lie still until I get through! I respect your feelings toward Miss MacLaire. She is a good girl, and I hope to heaven you get her if you want her. But you never will if you permit this affair to go on. Yes, I know what I am talking about. In all that Hope and I do we are serving you and Christie—our only fight is with 'Black Bart' Hawley. Stop being a bullet-headed old fool, Fairbairn, and understand this thing. Lie still, I tell you, and hear me out! Hawley is a liar, a thief, and a swindler. There is a swindle in this thing somewhere, and he hopes to pull out a big sum of money from it. He is merely using Christie to pull his own chestnuts out of the fire. She is innocent; we realize that, but this fellow is going to ruin the girl unless we succeed in exposing him. He's not only involving her in his criminal conspiracy, but he's making love to her; he's teaching her to love him. That's part of his scheme, no doubt, for then she will be so much easier handled. I tell you, Fairbairn, your only chance to ever win the interest of Christie MacLaire is to help us down this fellow Hawley. Yes, you can sit up; I reckon you're beginning to see clearer, ain't you?"

Keith drew aside the flap of the tent to glance without, the light falling on Fairbairn's face as he struggled to a sitting posture. He had had a new thought driven into him, yet failed to entirely grasp its significance.

"But, Jack," he asked, still half angry, "how about the girl? Hasn't she any right to this money?"

"I don't know," honestly, "we don't any of us know, but whatever she has the right to she is going to get. You can bet on that, old man. We're bucking Hawley, not Christie MacLaire—get that into your head. He hasn't any right, that's certain, for he murdered and stole to get the papers—be quiet! Here the fellow comes now!"

They peered out together through the convenient tent flap, Fairbairn scarcely less interested than the other, already dimly comprehending that his truly dangerous rival was the gambler, and that he could best serve the lady by helping to prove to her the real character of that individual. He was still blindly groping in the haze, yet out of Keith's sharp, stinging words there had come to him a guiding light. The latter gripped his arm in restraint.

"Easy, old man, easy—let him pass."

Hawley turned into the alley whistling, evidently well pleased with the situation and anticipating other delights awaiting his coming. The glow of the Trocadero's lights served, an instant, to reveal his face, shaded by the broad brim of his hat, and then he vanished into the dark. Keith leaning far out, yet keeping well within the shadows, heard the faint creak of the vestibule door and the soft murmur of distant voices. Then he drew back suddenly, his hand again grasping Fairbairn. Two figures—those of a man and woman—emerged into the dim light, and as quickly disappeared. Apparently her hand was upon his arm, and he was bending down so as to gain a glimpse of the face partially concealed by the folds of the mantilla. Only a word or two reached them, a little laugh, and the woman's voice:

"Why, of course I hurried! you said you had something of such importance to tell me."

"Fairbairn," spoke Keith, his lips almost at the ear of the other. "That was Hope, all right, and she has got him going already. Now, man, will you help us out?"

"I? How?"

"Go back there, and meet Miss MacLaire. I don't care where you take her—lunch, anywhere; only keep her from the hotel as long as possible. You can do it far better than I, for she will not suspect you of any interest in this affair. Tell her any lie you can think up on account of Hawley's absence. Good Lord, old man, can't you see this is your chance; go in and win."

Fairbairn struggled to his feet, still a bit dazed and uncertain, yet tempted by the opportunity.

"You're perfectly sure, Keith, this isn't anything that will hurt the girl?"

"Sure! Of course I am. It's just Hawley I'm gunning after. For God's sake, haven't you got that clear yet?"

"I—I reckon I'm an old fool, Jack," admitted the Doctor regretfully, "and when an old fool is in love he hasn't got any sense left. Anyhow I'll do what you want me to now. Where are you going?"

"To watch those others. There is no knowing what play Hawley might try to pull off, and I want to keep within gun-shot of him. Hurry up, man; that vestibule door creaked just then."

He shoved him down the dark alley and dodged back himself across the front of the tent out into the street. There was a crowd of men in front of the Trocadero, but the couple he sought were nowhere in sight.

W. E. COX

Indiana Congressman Invokes Old Law to Wipe Out Postal Deficit.

HERE'S A NEW WAY TO REDUCE THE DEFICIT

Postal Remedy Suggested By Representative Cox.

Washington, June 16.—Representative W. E. Cox of Indiana, who is a member of the postoffice committee, has a plan of turning an annual postal deficit into an annual postal surplus of $25,000,000 or more. He says there is an old statute, now ignored, which prohibits express companies from carrying mailable matter over post routes. This statute, if enforced, would give the government a monopoly of carrying mailable matter, he says. As it is now, the express companies get the profits of the short hauls, which is the cream of the business, and leave the postoffice department to carry packages over the long routes, where the profits, if anything, are small. Mr. Cox has introduced a resolution calling upon Postmaster General Hitchcock to inform congress by what law or what right the express companies are permitted to carry mailable matter over post routes.

HE WAS EASY

American Goes Abroad to Encounter an Old Confidence Game.

Paris, June 16.—The season for confidence men is now open and at its height. Ten Americans have been duped within the past month, but the victims have succeeded in avoiding publicity. The last to suffer was one Saks, of Norfolk, Va. Mr. Saks, after being here a few days, met a stranger from Colorado and they had a drink. Just then there dropped in a man from Philadelphia who was going to Rome to distribute a legacy. But a cable message had called him back, and it would be worth $2,500 to Mr. Saks to go to Rome and distribute the legacy. Of course Mr. Saks had to assure the Philadelphian, who had a little Missouri blood in him, and in the end it cost Mr. Saks $4,000 to prove that he was perfectly reliable.

Senator Pomerene's Maiden Speech. Washington, June 16.—Senator Pomerene of Ohio, who entered the senate with the extra session, addressed the senate yesterday for the first time, speaking at length in support of his resolution directing the attorney general to institute criminal suits against the persons named as defendants in the government's suit under the Sherman law against the Standard Oil and Tobacco trust. No vote was taken on the resolution, for Mr. Pomerene asked that it go over.

INVITES THOUSANDS TO THE WHITE HOUSE
Taft Silver Wedding to Be Big Social Affair.
Washington, June 16.—The reception which the president and Mrs.
Taft will give on Monday, the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage, probably will be the most largely attended social affair ever given in the White House.
More than 3,000 invitations have been sent out. All the members of the family of the president and Mrs.
Taft, who was Miss Helen Herron of Cincinnati, will be house guests during the celebration. "Aunt Delia" Torrey of Milbury, Mass., will be among the specially honored visitors.

LEARNED HIS LESSON
It Cost This Man $16.50 to Expectorate in a Restaurant.
Indianapolis, June 16.—George Ax-ton of Newport paid $16.50 for the privilege of spitting on the floor of a restaurant at that place, according to a report filed with the state food and drug department of the state board of health by John Owens, a field inspector. Axton spat and no one objected, until the inspector caught him at it, when he was haled before a justice of the peace.
Railroad Valuations Increase.
Indianapolis, June 16.—Official figures issued by the state board of tax commissioners concerning the current appraisal of steam railroad property in the state for taxing purposes, show the total appraisalment to amount to $203,919,419, or an increase over the appraisalment of last year of $6,978,044.
Child Probably Fatally Hurt.
South Bend, Ind., June 16.—Donald
Eldredge, five-year-old son of Herbert W. Eldredge, manager of a department store, was run down by an automobile driven by George Muench of Benton Harbor, Mich., and possibly fatally injured. The accident occurred in the heart of the business section.

TRISTE SWEPT BY TIDAL WAVE
Steamships In the Harbor Torn
From Their Moorings.
MANY LIVES REPORTED LOST

Fierce Hurricane and Abnormal Tidal Wave Swept the Waves Twenty-five Feet Over the Breakwater, Flooded the Quays and Played Havoc With Vessels Riding in the Harbor—Many Lighter Boats Foundered.
Triste, June 16.—This port was partly demolished, many were killed and many ships wrecked by a fierce hurricane and an abnormal tide that visited the city. Waves twenty-five feet high swept over the breakwater and flooded the quays. Eight steamships at anchor in the harbor were swept from their moorings and either collided with one another or were dashed against the stone quays and seriously damaged. One steamer and several smaller sailing craft were completely wrecked.
A bark that was outside the breakwater sank and twelve of her crew were drowned. Two other large sailing vessels at anchor outside the breakwater dragged their anchors and were dashed to pieces against the breakwater. Most of their crews were drowned.
A great number of fishing boats and lighters along the coast foundered.
Twenty-five bodies have been recovered. The damage in the harbor, apart from the shipping, is many thousands. The imperial villa Miramar was damaged. The hurricane subsided within an hour. The fatalities along the coast are estimated at from fifty to one hundred.

ALL HANDS ESCAPED
Thrilling Situation When Ohio River
Steamer Catches Fire.
Smithland, Ky., June 16.—With fifty passengers aboard, the steamer John L. Lowry burned to the water's edge off Hamlettsburg, Ill. There was no loss of life, but scenes of wild panic were enacted as the passengers fought their way to the rails and waited with death imminent as the boat slowly made its way to the shore and safety.
Quick work on the part of the captain and the bravery of the engineer averted a fearful river tragedy. The fire had started near the engine and the boat was a furnace when the engineer ran the boat's bow into the bank and held it there until all the passengers and crew had escaped. By the time the bow of the steamer had scraped ashore, the fire had gained great headway, but the passengers had quieted down and all disembarked without injury.
The John L. Lowry was in the regular trade between this city and Evansville, Ind. The boat is a total loss.
The whole party camped on a sand-bar until an Evansville and Paducah packet came along and picked them up.

VAIN QUEST
Search For Human Bodies on Poole
Farm Was Unavailing.
Rensselaer, Ind., June 16.—Ten men, under the direction of W. L.
Wood, deputy prosecuting attorney of Jasper and Benton counties, spaded up part of the farm of John W. Poole, ten miles north of this city, in search of possibly buried human bodies, but found none. Poole is the farmer in jail at Fowler who is accused of killing Joseph Kemper, an employe, and burying the body.
Took Law in His Own Hands.
Albany, N. Y., June 16.—John V.
McStea, a theatrical man from New Orleans, shot and killed Arthur Brown, first baseman on the Albany baseball team, whom McStea found in the company of his wife, who was visiting her old home here. McStea coolly walked out to the street and told a policeman that he had shot Brown and that he came all the way from New Orleans to get him.
China Withholds Her Hand.
Washington, June 16.—China will not send a warship to Mexico because of the recent demand of the Chinese government for indemnities for the massacre of 200 Chinamen at Torreón during the recent revolution. Later, however, a Chinese warship now attending the coronation in England, may pay a ceremonial visit to American and Mexican ports on its return voyage to China.
One More Effort to Save Wendling.
Louisville, Ky., June 16.—The last effort to save Joseph Wendling from going to the penitentiary for life for the murder of Alma Kellner, came when Attorney Clements filed a petition for a rehearing with the court of appeals which recently affirmed sentence.
Magon to Be Resisted.
El Paso, Tex., June 16.—The Magonista Socialistic movement is gaining headway in Mexico, and there is to be no further delay in sending troops to Lower California to suppress the Ma-gonistas now opposing the government there.

REMONSTRANCE HELD TO COVER THE CASE
Muncie Dry Under Decision of Commissioners.
Muncie, Ind., June 16.—Basing their action on the ground that the remonstrances filed a few days ago in these wards were effective, the Delaware county commissioners have declared the Second and Sixth wards of this city "dry."
This action was taken when attorneys representing the saloon interests appeared before the commissioners to enter a finding against all applicants for licenses in all the wards of Muncie and to have the records show that the commissioners refused to grant any licenses here. As soon as this was done the "wet" attorneys filed notice of appeal to the circuit court and the case will be at issue in that court in a short time.
The other four wards in Muncie were declared "dry" about a week ago, but it was thought the validity of the remonstrances in the two wards where the majorities were very small would be thrashed out before the board.
Muncie voted "wet" by a majority of 502 at the election held May 2, but a larger majority was shown by the "drys" on their remonstrances which were filed a month later.

How to SELL Things That Are
"FOR SALE"
Write your "For Sale" ad SIMPLY stating ever detail about the article that you would want an ad to give if you were anxious to buy something of the kind yourself. Give a little thought to the "selling points" about the article, and put THEM into your ad.
Then run the ad MORE THAN ONCE, if that is necessary. It may or may not be.
